

Chronology of PhD Program

	1st Year	2nd Year	3rd Year	4th Year	5th Year
Teaching		Student teaches 1+1: ENWR 3800, ENGL, ENRN.	Student teaches 1+1: ENWR 1510, ENGL, ENRN, ENLT-M.	Student has the option to teach 2+0 or 1+1 but not 0+2.	Student has the option to teach 0+2, 2+0, or 1+1.
Coursework	Fall: Student takes ENCR 8100 plus 3 graded courses. Spring: Student takes ENPG 8800 plus 3 graded courses.	Student takes 6 graded courses, one of which may be ENPG 8850 (related to ENGL or ENRN teaching assistantship), plus ENXX 9910 both semesters.	Student registers for 12 credits non-topical research (ENGL 9998) and sit in on graduate-level course each semester: after spring break student begins Dissertation Seminar.	Fall: Student registers for Dissertation Seminar (ENGL 9995), plus ENXX 9910, plus 6 credits of non-topical research (ENGL 9998). Spring: Student registers for 12 credits ENGL 9999	Student registers for 12 credits non-topical research, ENGL 9999, each semester.
Orals		By May 1, student identifies two areas for oral exams and submits application.	By Oct. 1 student submits approved lists for exam. Before spring break, preferably in late fall, student takes 2-hr oral exam. Foreign language requirement must be met beforehand.
Dissertation Committee and Prospectus			By May 1, student forms dissertation committee.	By Dec. 1, student has prospectus approved by dissertation committee.
Presentations					In the academic year following approval of prospectus, student gives presentation.
Other	Student demonstrates proficiency in a foreign language.	Student demonstrates proficiency in second foreign language or mastery in a single foreign language.		In early January, student applies for GSAS/Senate Dissertation Fellowships or other research support.	Student consults with committee and Placement Director about job market.

NOTES:

1+1 indicates one course taught each semester. 2+0 indicates two courses taught in the fall term and none in the Spring term. 0+2 indicates no courses taught in the Fall term and two in the Spring.

MA transfer students function as second-year students.